A GOOD SIGN.

The young men of the nation are largely in favor of Grant and Wilson. This is a good sign, for it shows that the future of the Republic will be in safe hands.

Young men growing up among the living issues of the present are free from those prejudices which cause many citizens to cling to a party on account of its old traditions. There are thousands in the land who vote the Greeley ticket for no other reason than because it was nominated at Baltimore. They have been Democrats all their lives, and are willing to swallow anything that is labeled Democratic. They are blind to their country's interest, and go for their party ticket, "right or wrong."

From this blind partisanship the young men of the nation are free. They judge the two parties before the people for what they are not what they have been. They know that the Republican party has done and is doing well for the country. They know that the party that has adopted measures which the Democrats have ceased to oppose and now profess to accept must be the best party to continue in power. If its work has been good, its guardinnship over that work ought to be equally beneficial.

We are glad to welcome the young men of the Republic into the ranks of our party. They have the fire of youth, and make earnest workers. The cause sustained by young men can not fail. I grows in strength with every year. It has a vitality that no opposition can check. Its destiny is onward and upward. We lay no claim to those old fossils who are wedded to the empty shell of Democracy. With Young America bearing our standard we have no fears of the future. Our victory in November will be the future. As long as the Republican party continues to be as it is now—the party of justice, honesty, economy, and loyalty—the young men of America will be enlisted in its service to fight its battles, win its victories, and uphold its banner of universal liberty.

CURTIN VS. CAMERON.

The Chambersburg Public Opinion says: We elsewhere allude to Governor Curtin's departure to the Democratic party. It may be fitting to contrast the record of these two gentlemen (Curtin and Cameron), who have so long been the leaders of the two wings of the Republican party of Pennsylvania. Curtin, honored with two Gubernatorial terms, and whether aptly or not, styled the "war Governor." Afterwards appointed Minister Plenipotentiary to Russia—the best and most honorable position in the gift of President Grant. He now shows his base ingratitude to the Republican party by going over to the enemy, joining hands with Sumner, Schurz, Trumbull, Tipton, Banks and M'Clure, in their crusade against President Grant and the Republican party. He would have gone over in 1866, but for the command of his master, Col. A. K. M'Clure, who inspired him with the hope of being made United States Senator in 1868. Had he been made United States Senator, he would to-day be just where he is, in the camp of the enemy, fighting the party of progress and liberty.

Gen. Cameron, traduced and maligned by the same Curtin and his satelites, has been true to the good old Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the country at large. He is to-day the Hercules of the Republican party in Pennsylvania. All honor to the faithful public servant who in the darkest days of our country's history, originated many of the cardinal doctrines of the party, and has manfully stood by them.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, Oct. 9th, 1872

OLD MEN'S GRANT MEETING.

AIR—"Benny Havens, O!"

Well, wife, we've had a meetin' at the schoolhouse on the hill,
And I was chosen chairman, to keep the old men still;
But I found I couldn't do it; each man down his cane would plant,
And shout with all the voice he had, "I'm goin' in for Grant."

CHORUS—We're goin' in for Grant,
We're goin' in for Grant;
Then shout aloud and tell the crowd
We're goin' in for Grant.

We talked about the last four years, what great things had been done;
How the nation's debt had melted, like the snow before the sun;
We said, to keep it meltin', do a better thing we can't,
Than to stick and hang together, and all go in for Grant.

CHORUS—We're goin' in for Grant, &c.

We all looked through our spectacles upon the naked facts,
Then threw the veil of charity o'er giant Sumner's acts:
We said, "We like you, Sumner, but go your way we can't"—
Then made the school-house echo with a rousing shout for Grant.

CHORUS—We're goin' in for Grant, &c.

We didn't have much charity for Trumbull or for Schurz,
They stand around the party gate, a pair of snarling curs;
Their speeches cannot harm us, nor make Grant toe the mark;
He's an old Galena tanner, and knows how to handle bark.

CHORUS—We're goin' in for Grant, &c.

We talked about Grant's smokin'; we thought it no great sin—
To vote that out of office we might vote a worse one in;
And seein' we were smokers, 'twouldn't do for us to rant,
So we lit our pipes together, and smoked the health of Grant.

CHORUS—We're goin' in for Grant, &c.

In the day of the rebellion none of us could go to fight,
But we read from morn till evening how he battled for the right;
He has been the nation's servant in the days of peace and war,
And treason melts before him like the smoke from his cigar.

CHORUS—We're goin' in for Grant, &c.

After I'd adjourned the meetin' I gave each the friendly grip;
We will not topple over, we will not even slant,
But put our canes down firm and strong, and stand up straight for Grant.

CHORUS—We're goin' in for Grant, &c.

—JOHN H. HAYES.

THE STORY-TELLER.

"DOCTOR JOHN."

"A Doctor's life is a strange one!" muttered Dr. John Hessman, as he jumped into his carriage, taking the reins from the hands of the grinning Ethiopian who, for the last twenty minutes, had been cherishing the fond delusion that he was to accompany his master on his round of professional inquiry.

"Not this time, Ebony," said the doctor, with a good natured shrug of his broad shoulders. "You can come to-morrow," noting the look of disappointment in the boy's face. Dr. John was more tender of his servants than some men are of their wives.

"Oh, never mind, Massa, never mind!", replied Ebony, like the average human, quite forgetful of annoyance when the subject of consideration was distasteful. "I knows what 'tis. I just knows what 'tis," added Ebony, as he watched the carriage out of sight. "He's got one of his spells, and wants to talk to hisself; I know him of old. If 'twas anybody but Dr. John, I should just say, 'Ebony, that man has got softening of the skull; but no such nonsense can be laid to him."

Dr. John did want to be alone, or as much alone as a man could be in the streets of a crowded city, and he did want to talk to himself. Most men who are in the habit of communing with their own souls, do it in audible language; so in this respect, whatever he might be in others, Dr. John did not differ from his brethren. A man's own opinion is not unfrequently his best and safest companion. It will keep its owner's secrets, and when the companionship is frequent, will in all cases properly guide and admonish. Self-communion in its highest form is the avenue which leads directly to the heart of God.

"Yes," continued the doctor, "yes, sir." (Sometimes Dr. John was very respectful to himself.) "A doctor's life is no joke. Easy, my beauty, easy! Now, John, look at that horse. You are only just a little more of an animal than he is. It's fun for him to travel when there's another horse close by that he can outrun. Exactly the case with you, John. If it hadn't been for another horse in the shape of a doctor you were determined to get a little the start of, where would you have been to-day? That's the point. Worthy ambition, eh? to pass a poor devil on the road of life! Upon my word I believe I should be a better man if I had a wife. I rather like women; but it is a little hard to understand how a fellow manages with a woman tied to him morning noon and night. That's what takes me. Then, I am not sure that anybody'd have me that was anyways suitable. Of course, I should want intelligence, and intellectuality, too, by George! and I never could endure a plain woman, or a woman with a loud voice, or——Yes, sir, that question is in order," continued the doctor, stroking his long, silky, black beard. "That is what I call driving the nail in. What have you got, J. Hessman, to give in exchange for these royal treasures of mind and body? A good name—yes; an exceptionable position, unimpeachable integrity—yes, sir. These are something;" and here our M. D., reined up before an elegant brown stone mansion, where one of his best (pecuniarily speaking) and most fashionable patients resided. Here Dr. John was employed by the year; and although the position was no sinecure, on account of the amount of patience required to battle with the nervous fancies of the principal invalid of the establishment, still Dr. John, to use his own telling vernacular, considered it "an exceedingly soft thing"—and soft it was in more senses than one.

Dr. John walked right up into the invalid's chamber.

"Oh, good morning, doctor. A little late aren't you? Seems to me I have been waiting an unusual length of time," drawled the lady from her luxurious couch.

"About the usual hour," replied Dr. John, with no especial show of deference. "What seems to be the matter this morning?"

"Now, really, doctor, that is too cruel. Matter this, morning! Do you remember what was the matter yesterday? Please don't be so blunt, You shock my nerves terribly."

"Let me see," said the doctor. "Yesterday, according to your own admission, you were fagged out with a fashionable party and a late supper. That of course, cannot be the case to-day."

"I know I should not have attempted it in my weak state, doctor. I know just what you will think of it," sighed the fashionable woman from her downy bed. "But then you men never will understand what society demands of us women. Dear Estelle (dear Estelle was the invalid's daughter) had quite set her heart on going to Mrs. Donk's reception. Of course I could not allow the dear child to go unattended, and bless your heart, Dr. Hessman, the girl's father would not accompany her to a party if she fell dead in consequence. Oh, Lord, such a time as I did have about it, trying to induce Mr. Waters to escort her. I really believe that scene had more to do with my suffering to-day than the party had. Dear me, such a set man as Mr. Waters is! I told him—says I, "William, this may result in my death!" Says he—"When a woman gets to be forty years old, and don't know enough to take care of her own health and the health of her children, it is time she died;" and then, doctor, he lit his cigar and puffed out of the house. I tell you this because I want you to know what has so unnerved me, and that you may not lay it all to the party. Estelle is quite ill, too, doctor, and when you have written out my prescription I wish you would walk into the next room and see her."

Dr. John knew that something must be administered or his profession would be irretrievably ruined, so with a quiet smile playing around his large mouth (Dr. John's mouth was really very large, and truth compels us to state that he had an under-jaw to match, though the rows of unexceptionably white and even teeth and the silken chin-covering, glossy and soft as a woman's hair, entirely redeemed the lower part of his face from ugliness) the physician wrote the few necessary Latin words, among which aqua seemed really the most conspicuous, and then passed into the other room. The doctor knew what awaited him. This little game had been tried more than once before.

"Good morning, Miss Estelle," said Dr. John, approaching the sofa where the languid beauty reclined. "Your mother tells me you are ill."

Miss Estelle, with almost an impatient gesture, brushed back the floating hair from her temples—carelessly and really unintentionally, it would seem, baring by the motion one of the most beautiful arms that sculptor ever waved about—and replied:

"Your manner seems to say, Miss Estelle, you are always ill. Why don't you behave yourself?" "Oh, how happy I should be, Dr. John, if you would once in your life be kind to me. I do really think something is the matter with my heart. What if I should die?"

No picture of Watteau's could ever have been more witching, more charmingly colored, than the little form before him. Every accessory of toilet had been brought to bear upon the citadel of his heart—and to a handsome woman no dress is so becoming as the negligee of her boudoir, with its lace and fantastic embroidery, slippered feet and graceful posture. Then the vases filled with flowers, the mirrors, and jewels, and perfumes, and enticing lolling chairs.—Heigho! many a strong man has bowed to such a shrine—made a fool of himself for life—when in the glare and glitter of the drawing room no such nonsense would have been thought of.

Dr. John acknowledged the beauty of this picture. It was dainty, piquant, dangerous. It had been dished up for him on several previous occasions, but never so much to his mind as now. The beauty's manner was earnest and almost supplicating. What man could fail to be appreciative under such circumstances? Remember, too, that Doctor John was longing to be loved—had that morning almost prayed that heaven would send him a little bundle of comfort in the shape of a good wife, and it will not be strange that, notwithstanding the efforts previously made to entrap him, he should think only of the present loveliness.

"What are you reading, Miss Estelle?" asked Dr. John, after a moment of appreciative scrutiny. "Wilson's Essays, eh?" and the doctor's face showed all the surprise and pleasure felt by its owner. "And upon my word, if here isn't Emerson. That is healthy food, rather heavy though, I should think, for a sick girl!"

Miss Estelle drew a long breath. For the first time in the twelve months of trial had she received one single word of compliment or commendation from the man whom her mother had determined she should marry.

"And, as true as I live, another book under the pillow. Really, I have some curiosity to know the title of that volume also," continued the doctor almost caressingly.

"Oh, it is nothing," replied the would-be invalid, languidly, "but a stupid cookery book that I got from the library.—Mother depends upon me, you see, for our deserts, and I can tell you that sometimes my ingenuity is sorely tested."

One little hand tucked the volume further under the pillow, while the other, unconsciously, of course, dropped upon the doctor's. With the white, jeweled fingers lying on his, the fair dazzling face upturned, the words which would have doomed him to misery all the days of his life were almost spoken.

How wonderfully and providentially little things sometimes appear to save from desolation and death! The hand with which she had striven to hide the partially concealed volume had strangely enough, lifted the frill of the pillow and disclosed both title and author—one of the most mischievous and recklessly written books ever translated into the English language.

For a moment the doctor sat silent with horror and astonishment. Not so much that the woman before him had developed a taste for such literature, but that she could so unblushingly lie to him.

"I do not think," said he, at last, "that you need any medicine. So you have my permission to study the cookbook under your pillow as diligently as you may feel disposed. It is pleasant to know that fashionable young ladies are possessed of such domestic and literary tastes. Good morning, Miss Waters."

Dr. John passed out of that abode of luxury sick at heart.

"I came very near losing myself in that trap. What confounded fools men are!"

The thought was rather humiliating, and Dr. John was unable to shake it off during the day; and when he turned his horse's head homeward it was with a feeling of disgust and loneliness never before experienced.

"Pretty much all alike, I'm afraid," he continued softly to himself.

Just then a little figure in the middle of the street attracted his attention. A child, to all appearance not a day over five years, with uplifted arms stood, heedless of danger, looking straight in his face. Quicker than I can tell, Dr. John had jumped from his carriage, seized the little creature and place her on the seat beside him.

"You were in great danger, my dear," said the doctor," looking down into the singularly sweet and intelligent young face. What made you stand in the middle of the crowded street?

"Are you a doctor?" was the only reply vouchsafed.

"By profession, yes, little miss, and by name John Hessman. Have you any commands for his highness?"

"If you are a doctor, I want you to go home with me, and if you are not, please tell me where I can find one. My sister Kate is sick—awful sick—and she talks and sings all the time; and I haven't got any money—neither has she; but she will die if somebody don't come."

"I am a doctor, and will go home with you, little darling," said our friend, involuntarily drawing the sobbing child toward him. "Don't cry; I can help her if anybody can."

Before they arrived at the residence of the sick girl, Dr. John had discovered, by skillful questioning, that the child's name was Florence Britton—the sister's Kate Britton; that Kate wrote stories, and made reports, and sometimes was out late at night taking notes and preparing articles for the press, that she had not been well during the winter, and for the last three weeks had been unable to attend to her literary duties, and was now suffering from brain fever. The room which the doctor entered was plainly and neatly furnished, and bore unmistakable marks of refinement and womanly taste.

"Kate," said the little girl, climbing into the bed where her sister lay moaning with pain—"sister Kate, I have brought a doctor to see you. I found him in the street, and he says he can make you well. Look at him, Katie—he is very kind."

"Cuddle right down beside me, Flory darling. There, that's a good little girl. Go to sleep, don't mind sister Kate—she's only got a headache. Say your prayers," murmured the girl, even in delirium, thoughtful of her precious charge.

Here was a case to rouse Dr. John's energies—a case which appealed to his sympathy and respect—a case, so far as he was able to judge, of utter loneliness and destitution. So, like the good man he was, he set himself to work in good earnest. A good nurse was procured, necessary articles were brought into the house, and over all he watched as if the sufferer had been his own sister. The fourth day the invalid awoke to consciousness, and looked at Dr. John straight in the face.

"Where am I?" said she, attempting to rise.

"At home," he replied. "Please be very quiet."

"Where is Flora?"

"Asleep by your side. Don't ask any more questions."

"Who are you?" she continued, apparently oblivious to the command.

"John Hessman at your service, and at present your self-constituted physician, who will be obeyed! Now drink this beef-tea—take Flory's little hand in yours and go straight to sleep."

With a sigh of relief, a smile, a momentary attempt to keep her eyes open a little longer, and the invalid was sleeping as quietly as an infant.

Four weeks from that day, Miss Kate Britton rode out in the doctor's carriage, almost as well as ever.

Dr. John looked unutterable things, as he jumped into his gig and took his seat beside her. Very like the day a month ago when he had something particular to say to himself—only now he evidently had a communication to make to another.

"It will be safe for me to resume my writting to-morrow; will it not, doctor?" inquired Kate, the first to break the silence. "I feel better and stronger to-day than I have for a year."

"No, little girl," replied the doctor. "It will not be safe for you to resume your writting in six months!"

"Oh, doctor, you are only joking now; I know you are," said Kate, noting the look of amusement in his expressive eyes.

"No, Kate, indeed I am not joking. You shall never go back to that drudgery again, if I can help it."

The hot blood mounted clear to Kate's temples. "Dr. Hessman," she continued, assuming a business-like manner, "but for you I should have been in my grave!"

"In all probability," broke in her companion with more truth than modesty.

"Well," she continued, "you have saved my life, kept my darling little sister from starvation—cared for us both as though we had been your own kindred! But how can I ever—"

"There, child, stop right where you are. Never, if you have any regard for my feelings, allow that word to slip from your lips. I want to take you and Flory to my home, and make your happiness my care. I want a wife and a sister; will you be the first? Perhaps you don't love me exactly—but I know I can make you love me!"

"But I do love you!" said Miss Kate under her breath."

"All right, then! Will you go?"

She went.

Dr. John scarcely ever talks to himself now.

THE high rate of premium which U. S. Bonds have attained, and the consequent reduced rate of interest produced by the investment has caused investors to seek a different class of securities which will increase their income, and at the same time offer an equal guarantee for safety. There is no greater security than municipal bonds, to prove which it is only necessary to revert to the circumstances that such a thing as attempted repudiation in this line of investments has been rarely heard of. From the fact of their being issued for improvements which directly benefit the locality from which they emenate, an individual responsibility is felt in the obligation, and a personal pride taken in carrying out in good faith the agreements which they represent. The West is being developed more rapidly than any other portion of the country, and as money is more in demand than at the East, a higher rate of interest must necessarily be paid, which point, together with the absolute security of the obligations, is inducing Eastern capitalists to turn their attention in this direction. To meet the demands of investors it has become praticable to establish houses for the purpose of dealing in this specialty; and in this connection we invite our readers to the card of Messrs. W. N. Coler & Co., of No. 22 Nassau street, which appears in another column. This house has taken the initiative in this direction, and brings into the business an ample capital and large experience, which cannot fail to give satisfaction to every one who has dealings with them. The work upon the Indianapolis, Blooming & Western Railroad is being pushed rapidly forward, and the bonds are meeting with ready sale. About 60 miles are already finished, and 110 miles graded; the whole line, 217 miles, will be completed early in 1873. It is an important link in a system of more than 1,200 miles of road under one management. Its Eastern connections at Indianapolis are the Pennsylvania Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Bellefontaine, Lake Shore, and New York Central, and other roads centering at this point. From the Seaboard to the West and North-West distances are materially reduced via this system of roads; so much so that it cannot fail to be the popular line for travel and business.

SOME OF GREELEY'S FRIENDS.

The reader can form a very correct idea of the class of people whom "Radical usurpations" still exclude from all the privileges of citizenship, in the rebel States, if he remembers that the atrocious scoundrel, Winder, who is gibbeted in the statement hereto annexed, is one of them. We quote from an account of Andersonville, written by a surgeon in the rebel army:

To complete his precautions for the safe keeping of his charge, or to quell any disposition to revolt, he had placed, through Gen. Winder's orders, a battery of six pieces of artillery, which commanded the whole interior of the prison, and which was kept charged with grape and canister, ready for instant service. The orders to the officer in command were to "sweep the stockade" if there was any appearance of mutiny, or any unusual crowding together of its inmates.

The artillerists were on duty at night as well as in the day, and were relieved at their guns as regularly as were the customary sentinels on guard. The position of the battery upon a hill and overlooking the prison, while it commanded its whole interior, was such that, if the order had ever been given to fire, its hurling grape would have borne death and desolation to many thousands.

When General Kilpatrick, of the Union army, was expected to advance in his ride as far as Andersonville, the following order was issued:

ORDERS NO. 13.

HEADQUARTERS CONFEDERATE STATES)
MILITARY PRISON,
ANDERSONVILLE, July 27, 1864,)

The officer on duty and in charge of the battery of "Florida Artillery" at the time will, upon receiving notice that the enemy have approached within seven miles of this post, open fire upon the stockade with grapeshot, without reference to the situation beyond these lines of defense.

It is better that the last Federal be exterminated than be permitted to burn and pillage the property of loyal citizens, as they will do if allowed to make their escape from the prison.

By order of John H. Winder, Brigadier General. W. S. Winder,
Assistant Adjutant General.

Upon the promulgation of this sanginary and barbarous order, a citizen of Sumpter county and an arch secessionist, who happened to be with the militia force called out by the Governor of Georgia for the defence of Andersonville, remonstrated with General Winder against its inhumanity. The reply was: "Sir, I will kill the last d—d Yankee in the stockade before Sherman or Kilpatrick shall release them? God d—n my soul if I would not rather see those twenty thousand scoundrels blown to hell than go to Heaven myself!"

PAIN.—Pain is never a good—cannot be a good in any sense of the word. It is emphatically an evil thing, though it may be our duty to bear it; and thought of having saved others from its endurance is, of course, a grand and noble satisfaction. If it were a good thing in itself, we should wish others to suffer it; but the satisfaction lies not at all in the pain, but in the thought of having averted it from those we love. It is one of the greatest proofs of an overruling Beneficence that love can thus snatch a joy out of the fires of agony; but we equivocate with ourselves and others if we attempt to conceal the fact that every form of pain, bodily and mentally, is evidence of an imperfect state, which we have a right to deplore, and must needs wonder at. No explanation of this portentous mystery seems possible in our present life. We must wait patiently, and see what death has got to teach us; relying meanwhile on the goodness and power of the Divine Author.

WHAT LOYAL MEN THINK OF GREELEYS ELECTION.

Wendell Phillips, in his review of the situation, says:

"An old friend, now residing in Georgia, who stood, rifle in hand, in Kansas all through that fight, told me, just after the Cincinnati convention:

"'Sir, before Grant arrested those twenty Ku-klux in North Carolina I never slept without a loaded musket at my bed-head, and never ventured into the village unless full armed. Since that stern interference in North Carolina I, even afar off in Georgia, sleep and walk about as safe, careless, and free as you do here.'"

"If Greeley is elected, I suppose,' said I, 'you'd load those revolvers again."

"Never. I know by southern boast what that election means. I'll never risk living in Georgia under Greeley—I'll sell out and come North."

This is what the election of Greeley means to southern loyalists, and yet loyal men are to be found in the North who think that the triumph of Greeley means peace and reconciliation throughout the South. Many of these loyal friends of Mr. Greeley have already opened their eyes to the truth. We trust all will see the drift of the movement by November, and lend their influence for the election of the only man now before the people who can give perfect security to every law-abiding citizen in the land. The loyal North saved the nation, let it not be said that it deserted the loyal people of the South in their hour of trial. The election of Greeley means anarchy in the South and financial disaster in the North. The election of Grant means peace everywhere, and a continuance of the prosperity which has blessed the nation since his elevation to office.

A REBUKE TO TRAITORS.

FORNEY'S HOME.

Gives General John F. Hartranft a majority of 20,000.

CURTIN'S HOME.

Bellefonte, the home of A. G. Curtin, gives General Hartranft an increased vote of nearly two hundred.

BUCKALEW'S HOME.

Columbia county, the present home of Charles R. Buckalew, gives General Hartranft an increased vote of over three hundred.

THE Miners' Journal says: The Dead Carrion in Pennsylvania—John W. Forney, A. K. M'Clure, A. G. Curtin, Esaias Billingfelt, and a lot of smaller fry scattered in different counties of the State. Undertakers ought to be procured at once to bury them so deep that the stench from their corrupt carcasses cannot poison the atmosphere any longer.

Give it to the traitors, friend, Bannan.

[From the Philadelphia Bulletin.]

THE GREAT VICTORY.

Thrice honor to the sons of Pennsylvania for yesterday's glorious victory! Thrice honor to the brave chieftain who led, and the swarming myriads that followed his unsullied plume! The battle, fierce, prolonged, critical, has been stoutly fought and splendidly won, and, to-day, the great loyal heart of the Union throbs with gratitude and delight over the great triumph of Republican principles on Pennsylvania soil.

It has been a battle of unexampled severity, and the victory is a Waterloo defeat to the worst coalition ever organized against the Republican party, or against any of its individual leaders. Every barrier of truth and decency has been broken down in the mad assault upon Gen. Hartranft; and the hosts of maddened dishonesty and corruption have swept upon him with a savage recklessness quite unknown to the annals of civilized political warfare. And Gen. Hartranft has manfully, quietly and with a sublime patience confronted the storm of calumny, confident in his own innocence, and sustained by legions of true men whose stout hearts and strong arms have carried him safely across "the bridge" of our new Antietam, and to-day rejoice with him over a proud name, an honest character and a noble record vindicated before the whole world.

Pennsylvania has cause to be proud of her great achievement. The country looked on yesterday, with bated breath, intensely solicitous over the impending struggle. As of old, Pennsylvania held the key of the national situation, and as she went to the front those who surveyed the battle-field from afar, saw that we marched into the fight, not under our old leaders, but with our old banners in the van. They saw those who had been captains in former campaigns, harrassing our flanks with a bush whacking, guerrilla warfare, or openly arrayed on the side of the country's enemies. They saw the tall, knightly form of Hartranft at the front, entering the fray with all the lofty bearing of soldierly courage; but he was new to them, and they did not know whether the great army would be safe under an untried leadership. But Pennsylvania knew him, and trusted him as he deserved. And the brave sons of Pennsylvania shook off the deserters and traitors and marauders that menaced their onward march, and stormed the the battlements of Democracy and routed out the camps of the sham Reformers, and have planted the flag of Republicanism and the standard of Hartranft side by side upon the shattered bulwarks of the enemy.

It is not time yet to count up the exact detailed results of the victory. But some of them are patent to the world. Pennsylvania yesterday placed U. S. Grant once more in the Presidential chair. The field of November is swept by the guns of October, and the mongrel hosts of Cincinnati and Baltimore are already in full retreat. This is the grandest of all the results of Pennsylvania's victory. But it is not all. The election of John F. Hartranft is the assertion by the people of this Commonwealth of their gratitude to the gallant soldier who risked his life for the Union, their recognition of the faithful official who has kept himself pure and unstained through six years of civil service, and their generous, indignant protest against the unworthy men who have forever degraded and disgraced themselves by the base warfare that they have waged against a good and honest citizen.

The intense satisfaction that pervades our ranks, to-day, and that expressed itself in a thousand forms last night, over the overwhelming rebuke to the slanderers of John F. Hartranft, was an honest und proper satisfaction. The defeat of Buckalew is almost forgotten in view of the defeat of Forney, Curtin and M'Clure. Had their assaults upon Hartranft been an honest one, men would have recognized their right to entertain and express their opinions. But it was a false and cowardly assault. It was an attack destitute of every element of honor, truth or decency. It was the deliberate conspiracy of desperate men to destroy an opponent by the worst of all weapons, the poisoned shafts of calumny and slander. A noble, upright, gallant character and a bright reputation were beset by these men for no worthier purpose than the concealment of their own crimes, the gratification of their own bad ambitions, or the revenge of their personal disappointments. And we rejoice over their discomfiture, because it is the triumph of Right over Wrong, of Truth over Calumny. They deserve all their shame. An honorable foe can be beaten, forgiven, restored. But for guerillas like these who have hounded down the good name of a brave soldier like John F. Hartranft there is but one just fate. They have made their own bed; let them lie in it!

We propose to speak boldly and warmly on this subject. We have maintained the cause of Gen. Hartranft because we knew that it was a righteous cause. We have helped to win this great victory for Hartranft and Grant, and we have the right to say now and here: We want no help in November from the men who deserted us in October! We protest in the name of the working men of the Republican party, in advance, against any recognition of John W. Forney or Governor Curtin as advocates of President Grant in the remaining campaign. They would have beaten him, yesterday, if they could. We do not want their services now. And we demand, in the name of the thousands whom we know that we represent, that no Republican Committee—National, State or local—shall permit these men to speak for us anywhere, in pretended support of the National ticket, whose success we ensured yesterday. We will fight it out on October's lines, under October's banners and with October's leaders. Others may vote for Grant or not as they please. It is only those who voted for him yesterday that have any right to enter into his coming triumph.

MULE ARTILLERY.

Out in a certain Western fort, sometime ago, the majority conceived the idea that artillery might be used effectually in fighting with the Indians by dispensing with gun carriages and fastening the cannon upon backs of mules. So he explained his views to the commandant, and it was determined to try the experiment. A howitzer was selected and strapped upon an ambulance mule, and the muzzle pointed toward the tail. When they had secured the gun and loaded it with ball cartridge, they led that calm and steadfast mule out on the bluff, and set up a target in the middle of the river. The rear of the mule was turned toward the target, and he was backed gently up to the edge of the bluff. The officers stood around in a semi-circle, while the major went up and inserted a fuse in the touchhole of the howitzer. When the fuse was ready, the major lit it and retired. In a minuet or two the hitherto unruffled mule heard the fizzing back there on his back, and it made him uneasy. He reached his head around to ascertain what was going on, and, as he did so, his body turned, and the howitzer began to sweep around the horizon.—The mule at last became excited, and his curiosity grew more and more intense, and in a second or two he was standing with his four legs in a bunch, making six revolutions a minute, and the howitzer, understand, threatening sudden death of every man within half a mile. The commandant was observed to climb suddenly up a tree; the lieutenants were seen sliding over the bluff into the river, as if they didn't care at all about the high price of uniforms; the adjutant made good time toward the fort; the sergeant began to throw up breastworks with his boyonet, and the major rolled over the ground and groaned. In two or three minutes there was a puff of smoke, a dull thud, and the mule—oh! where was he? A solitary jackass might have been seen turning successive back somersaults over the bluff only to rest at anchor, finally, with his howitzer at the bottom of the river, while the ball went off toward the fort, hit the chimney in the major's quarters, rattled the adobe bricks down into the parlor, and frightened his wife into convulsions. They do not allude to it now, and no report of the result of the experiment was ever sent to the War Department.—John Phœnix.

Pilgrimage to Europe and the Great International Exposition at Vienna.

An excursion, on a grand scale, is preparing at Columbia, Pa., under the auspices of CYRENE COMMANDERY, Knights Templar, for a tour to Europe and the International Exposition at Vienna. They propose to start about 1st of June next. Landing at Queenstown, they will travel through Ireland and Great Britain, and visit all places of prominence on the Continent. The details have all been arranged for carrying the party, and providing for them, at an extremely low rate. Number limited. Persons wishing to join this most magnificent excursion, should make it known before the 1st day of January next. For circulars, or full particulars, address the Committee, RAMBO, KAUFFMAN, and EAGLE, Columbia, Pa.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., October 9, 1872;

The State is still in doubt, though it is being claimed by the Democrats by 1,500. An official court will probably be required before the result is known, and it is possible Hendricks may wiggle through. We have gained two Congressmen, beaten Voorhes, carried the Legislature by eighteen majority on joint ballot, and at the worst it can only be considered a drawn battle. The result foreshadows a certain Republican victory in November,

Manufactured and Sold Daily, of the

NEW IMPROVED ELIAS HOWE SEWING MACHINE!

THE GREATEST PRODUCTION OF INVENTIVE GENIUS, POINTS OF SUPERIORITY, BEAUTY, CONVENIENCE & DURABILITY. IT WILL LAST A LIFE TIME.

ALL of its wearing parts are made of hardened steel, has no Cog Wheels to Break or Rattle; great adjustability, (self-adjusting take-up) adjustable needle-head, will sew light or heavy goods perfect; makes the nicest hem or fell; will gather and sew on, Cord, Tuck, Braid, Binde, Embroider, or will do any kind of work, even make Crotchet Work Perfect.

This Machine makes the celebrated Lock-stitch—the stitch invented by Mr. Howe—alike on both sides. The shuttle tension is upon the thread as it leaves the shuttle, and not upon the bobbin, as in most machines; and this tension is invariable whether the bobbin be full or nearly empty. It is obtained by turning a screw in the shuttle, and can be changed in a moment, without taking out the work, breaking the thread, or threading through holes.—This Machine is now hung on hinges, and the trouble of taking it from the table to clean and oil obviated.

What we claim, in substance, is, that this is an Honest Machine, and if put in your family, will do any and all of your work perfectly, will last a lifetime, is a willing and ready servant, and is not subject to FITS.

Persons who have tried all machines are unanimous in declaring this to be the easiest learned of any in the market. In the majority of cases customers learn from the instruction book without further aid.

This Machine is now for sale in your county by Traveling Agents. If you are not called on by them, and you want the Best Machine for the amount of money you may out, please address I. F. PALMER & CO., Bellefonte, Pa., or, Philipsburg, Pa., either of which places you may live nearest to, and your order will receive prompt attention in person.—Our Machines are sold on easy terms—either by monthly installments, or by NOTE, CASH or PRODUCE at Market Prices. Needles, Oil, Thread and Extra Attachments constantly on hand at our offices. Office at Bellefonte, in Garman's Hotel Building. Call and see styles and sample work.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

It is not a physic which may give temporary relief to the sufferer for the first few doses, but which, from continued use brings Piles and kindred diseases to and in weakening the invalid nor is it a doctored liquor, which, under the popular name of "Bitters" is so extensively palmed off on the public as sovereign remedies, but it is a MOST POWERFUL TONIC AND ALTERATIVE, pronounced so by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris, and has been long used by the regular physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

DR. WELL'S EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA, retains all the medical virtues peculiar to the plant and must be taken as a permanent curative agent.

IS THERE WANT OF ACTION IN YOUR LIVER & SPLEEN? Unless relieved at once, the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, Blotche, Felons, Pustules, Canker, Pimples, &c., &c.

Take JURUBEBA to cleanse, purify and restore the vitiated blood to healthy action.

HAVE YOU A DYSPEPTIC STOMACH? Unless digestion is promptly aided the system is debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the Blood, Dropsical Tendency, General Weakness or Lassitude.

Take it to assist Digestion without reaction, it will impart youthful vigor to the weary sufferer.

HAVE YOU WEAKNESS OF THE INTESTINES? You are in danger of Chronic Diarrhoea or the dreadful Inflammation of the Bowels.

Take it to allay irritation and ward off tendency to inflammations.

HAVE YOU WEAKNESS OF THE UTERINE OR URINARY ORGANS? You must procure instant relief of you are liable to suffering worse than death.

Take it to strengthen organic weakness or life becomes a burden.

Finally it should be frequently taken to keep the system in perfect health or you are otherwise in great danger of malarial, miasmatic or contagious diseases. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, 18 Platt St., New York, Sole Agent for United States. Price One Dollar per Bottle. Send for Circular. 40-4t

GRANT AND WILSON.

We meet to-night, prepared to fight
For victory once more;
We proudly come, with torch and drum,
And the loud cannon's roar;
We'll raise a note from every throat,
And sing a hearty chant;
Let's all unite to shout and fight
For Wilson and for Grant!
Chorus'—For Wilson and for Grant, my boys!
For Wilson and for Grant;
Let's all unite to shout and fight
For Wilson and for Grant!

Let "soreheads" growl and loudly howl
For Greeley and for Brown,
But never fear, we'll raise a cheer,
That will their voices drown;
Let Horace teach, and Sumner preach;
Let Schurz and Davis rant,
We'll all unite to shout and fight
For Wilson and for Grant!
For Wilson and for Grant, my boys!
For Wilson and for Grant!
We'll all unite to shout and fight
For Wilson and for Grant!

The Boys in Blue are always true,
And Grant has been their pride,
From Vicksburg's height to Richmond's fight,
He's been their friend and guide!
Then let's unite, all hands to-night,
To sing the people's chant,
And it shall be full three times three
For Wilson and for Grant!
For Wilson and for Grant, my boys!
For Wilson and for Grant,
And it shall be full three times three
For Wilson and for Grant!

Politics in the Family.

The Cleveland Leader of July 25 says: "We doubt if the horrors of he present political campaign will ever be brought more directly home or result in a sadder case of domestic infelicity than that which we record below. Most of our citizens have seen the campaign Greeley fans with which the city is flooded, and since their introduction every boot-black and newsboy in the city as well as older persons are familiar with the ruddy features of the axe-slinger of Chappaqua, as they appear surrounded with a halo of white wool, and affixed to a stick for wind for the propelling purposes. As a correct likeness of the most aspiring aspirant® for the Presidental chair that ever lived they are a success, and if our readers have any desire to make the picture more vivid. let them follow the instructions of an eastern poet who says:

Would you see the face of H. G. aright?
Take your study lamp and put out the light;
Stand up aginst it the Greeley fan—
And a white felt hat, and behold the man!

But to our story. Residing upon one of our prettiest thoroughfares is a man named Stringer, who has from the very moment when the Cincinnati Convention became known allowed all the spare wind that escaped from his political bellows to shape itself into shouts for Greeley. His wife, who is young and pretty, and naturally partakes of his views in a political sense, knowing of his intense admiration of the Graham bread philosopher, purchased one of the new Greeley fans, the other day, while out shopping, and took it home to surprise her husband.

Owing to a convivial meeting that evening, where confusion to the administration was drunk in sparkling bumpers of champagne, by Stringer and a few boon companions, the former did not return to his happy home until midnight. His wife, who had retired to bed at the usual hour after fanning herself for an hour or two with her purchase of the afternoon, finally laid it over on her spouse's pillow and dropped off to sleep. Stringer entered his house without making any noise, took off his boots, softly ascended the stairs to his wife's apartments, entered and was about to disrobe for the night, when oh! horrors, what a sight met his slightly inebriated gaze. There, reeling upon his pillow, he saw the features of a bald-headed, gray-haired man, whose flushed features betokened guilt and poor liquor—Stringer smelled a rat larger than an elephant; he saw it all at a glance. He had entered so still that he had surprised the scoundrel.

His wife snored a peaceful snore, and that angered him still more, and without stopping to think whether he was sufficiently insane or not, the wronged and miserable Stringer pulled out his pistol and fired two shots through the head of the aged rascal. The noise awoke Mrs. Stringer, who shrieked. The gas was turned up, and with his thirst for blood still unquenched, Stringer saw—that he had made an ass of himself. He tried to make his wife believe it was a joke: that he knew it was Greeley when he first came into the room, and was willing to stand "anything to beat Grant: but his wife said that story had not the requisite thickness, and told a neighbor's wife, who attended sewing society the next day, and so it got out.

THE New York Tablet, the organ of he New York Catholics, speaking of the Presidential contest, says;

As between Grant and Greeley, personally, we have already said that we prefer Grant; but as between their respective parties, we prefer the party that supports Mr. Greeley to the Republican party that supports the re-election of Gen. Grant.—How we or the proprietors of the Tablet will vote in November, is for us and them to determine, and with which we have no occasion to trouble the public. We have given our opinion of Mr. Greeley. We have no confidence in his political ability or in his political integrity, and we cannot get over our impression that his nomination at Cincinnati was a joke. He is uncertain as a politician, has a picayune intellect, no breadth of mind, and not a single statesmanlike quality. No man we know of has done more to pervert through journalism the natural good sense of the people, or exerted a more disastrous influence on the country. He is the father of the Republican party was in no small degree the cause of the southern secession and the late civil war; he has been the defender of the worst measures of the Republican party, and having failed to induce that party to gratify his ambition, he now goes back on it, and seeks the support of the party he has always opposed. Had Gen. Grant made him Post Master General, we should never have heard of him as the candidate for the Presidency of the Liberal Republicans. He is not a man we can respect.

THE $250 MAN.—It has been asserted, time and again, that Carl Schurz charges the Democrats $250 for every speech he delivers. He is now in this State playing his avocation. This man once figured as a general, and every soldier will remember the disastrous rout of the Eleventh army corps, when Gen. Hooker was in command of the army of the Potomac, through tho incapacity of Carl Schurz. The Eleventh corps was composed of a noble body of Germans, principally, and their defeat and discomfiture at Chancellorville and Fredericksburg was solely the result of bad generalship on the part of the windy Carl.

In one of his speeches in this State Mr. Greeley reiterated his republicanism, and told the democracy that he had widely differed from them in the past and might do so in the future. What can democrats think of such a candidate? At Pittsburgh he reiterated his old doctrine of secession, letting dissatisfied States go peaceably; at Cincinnati he attacked our currency; at Louisville he made a characteristic speech in which he pronounced colored men ignorant and misled; at Newport he denounced soldier's gatherings or reunions as all wrong! The democratic managers had better cage their candidate.

AN APPEAL!

To Debilitated Persns,
To Dispeptics,
To Sufferers from Liver Complaint
To those having no Appetite,
To those with broken down Constitutins
To Nervous People,
To Children Wasting Away,
To any with debilitated digesti'e Organs

Or suffering with any of the following Symptoms, which indicate Disordered Stomach or Liver.

such as Constipation, Inward Piles, Fullness or Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for food, Fullness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Fruetations, Sinking or Fluttering at Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and difficult breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, &c., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.

Hoofland's German Bitters.

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure Juices, or VITAL PRINCIPLE OF ROOTS, HERBS, and BARKS, (or, as medicinally termed, Extracts,) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore in one Bottle of this Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons or ordinary mixtures. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, when they compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others: no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a beneficial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic,

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases when some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the Tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1,50 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article! A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients; and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, and be benefitted by it, will most certainly be cheated.

SPEAR FOR THESE REMEDIES.

Who would ask for more Dignified or Stronger Testimony?

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania at present Member of Congress from Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1871.

I find "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in case of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD.

HON. JAS. THOMPSON, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania,

PHILADELPHIA, April 28, 1867.

I consider "Hoofland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my own experience of it.
Yours, with respect, JAS. THOMPSON.

Hon. GEORGE SHARSWOOD, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1, 1868.

I have found by experience that "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a very good tonic, relieving dyspeptic symptoms almost directly.
GEORGE SHARSWOOD

HON. JAS. M. WOOD, Ex-Mayor of Williamsport, Pa.

I take great pleasure in recommending "Hoofland's German Tonic" to any one who may be afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had the Dyspepsia so badly it was impossible to keep any food on my stomach, and I became so weak, as not to be able to walk half a mile. Two bottles of Tonic effected a perfect cure. JAMES M. WOOD.

REMEMBER
THAT
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS,
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Will Cure every Case of
MARASMUS,
Or Wasting away of the Body.
REMEMBER
THAT
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES

Are the medicines you require to purify the Blood, excite the torpid Liver to healthy action, and to enable you to pass safely through any hardships or exposure.

DR. HOOFLAND'S
PODOPHYLLIN,
Or Substitue for Mercury Pills.
TWO PILLS A DOSE.
The Most Powerful, Yet Innocent Vegetable Cathartic Known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these Pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver, Stomach and Bowels all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alcoholic Extract of Mandrake, which is by many times more powerful, acting and searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, cleaning it speedily from all obstructions, with all the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases, in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They NEVER FAIL.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and extreme costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic should be used in connection with the Pills. The tonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system. The Bitters or Tonic purifies the Blood, strengthens the Nerves, REGULATES the Liver, and gives strength, energy and vigor.

Keep your Bowels active with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Tonic, and no disease can retain its hold, or ever assail you.

Recollect that it is DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These Remedies will be sent by Express to any locality, upon application to the PRINCIPAL OFFICE, at the GERMAN MEDICINE STORE, 631 Arch St., Philadelphia.

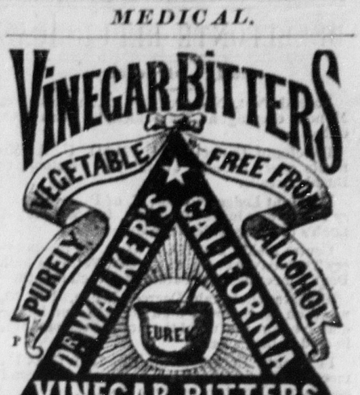
VINEGAR BITTERS



No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

THE HOME OF THE GENTLEMAN LATELY FROM CANADA.

Charles R. Buckalew, lately from Canada, and still more lately a Democratic candidate for Governor, stands so high in the appreciation of his fellow citizens of Columbia county that he received some three hundred votes short of the usual Democratic majority. How is this for Charley's popularity?

FOR THE UNITED STATES SENATE.

And now since the people have spoken—spoken in thundertones, and since we have an increased majority in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, let us send Hon. Simon Cameron another six years to the U. S. Senate. Let him be his own successor. He has always been true to the State—to the party, and to the doctrine of Protection to American Industry. Workingmen of Pennsylvania be true to your friends.

List of Letters remaining in the Bellefonte Post Office and unclaimed Oct. 7th, 1872.

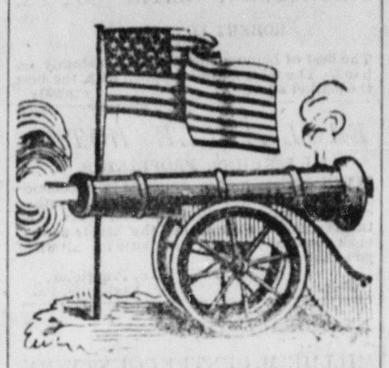
THE RESULT.

However gratifying the result of the election in this State may be to others, no man has more reason to feel satisfied with it than General Simon Cameron. Against him the whole artillery of the opposition has been leveled. The battle for the Governorship has been against him, more fiercely if possible, than against General Hartranft. The "Cameron Ring," as Forney and his co-workers in the "Liberal" and Democratic ranks, have called the vast majority of the people of Pennsylvania, who have just rendered their verdict, has been charged with all the crimes in the calendar of offenses against God and humanity. Simon Cameron, whom Forney hates as the devil is supposed to hate holy water, has been made to bear the brunt of all the various offenses, criminal and otherwise, charged against the Republican candidate for Governor. He was the man who had him nominated; he was the man who, through his friends, plundered the treasury, connived with Evans to defraud the State; in short he was the man of the Republican party who stood, like Saul among the prophets, a head and shoulders taller than any other; the man of mark, of note, the man to be put down.

Now, all these charges against the man having been made and argued before the tribunal of the people by the ablest counsel the opposition could procure at the expense of the Democracy, the Renegades and the Reformers—by Forney, by M'Clure, by Curtin, by the Democratic and Liberal press, by native and foreign stump orators of great celebrity—that tribunal has rendered a verdict against them and in favor of the man whom of all others they made most prominent and most maligned. In short in the election of General John F. Hartranft by a majority of THIRTY thousand, is found a complete vindication of General Simon Cameron—a verdict of acquittal of all the charges alleged against him by his traducers—by the men who hate him because he is greater than they, and envy him because they have not themselves the qualities that raise him in the estimation of his fellow citizens.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

VICTORY! VICTORY!!



THE MAJORITY OVER 30,000.

WE GAIN FOUR MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.

GEN. HARTRANFT ELECTED.

THAT SAME OLD COON!

WHERE ARE THE CALUMNIATORS NOW?

WHERE IS FORNEY & CO.

The 'Watchman's' Rooster!

Buckalew will speak a piece at Ranz' Barn, next Sunday!

The State has gone once more for Union and Loyalty. Glory enough for one day.

We have elected a Republican Governor.

We have elected a Republican Auditor General.

We have elected a Republican Supreme Judge.

We have elected a Republican Legislature, and this secures us a United States Senator. Let that man be Simon Cameron. He never betrayed his party. He never cast a vote that he has to take back.

As the needle to the pole, he has been true to the people of Pennsylvania. Now let us honor him. Let us send him to the United States Senate, and there let him die, if needs be, at his post, like Thadeus Stevens,—working for the people of Pennsylvania, for Protection to American Industry.

General Cameron never betrayed his State. He never betrayed a friend. He has honored the State, now let us honor him.

We will re-elect him to the United States Senate. Republicans of Pennsylvania, stand by your friends, as your friends have stood by you.

Never give up the ship. Our majority is large; but it is not too large. It only shows that God Almighty is on our side, and while he fights with us and for us, there is no hope for the Democracy.

Pennsylvania all right for Hartranft, Allen and the whole State ticket.

We want everybody to vote for Grant, before we close the books. Come one, come all.

READ THE RECORD!

It is The Truth of History.

Can Such an Alliance PreVAIL.

The Democratic party held almost unbroken control of this Government from the days of Jefferson to the surrender of Buchanan. During that long period it gave to American history some illustrious records; some that were more notorious, and some that were simply infamous. It had the general direction of affairs while the Union grew from thirteen weak States to thirty-four, powerful, prosperous, and full of rare promise for the impinging future. The population had grown from eight to thirty-odd millions. Let us see, then, wealth of experience, and abundant opportunities, what are the claims of the Democratic party to statesmanship?

The fairest test of capacity—trained as well as ready—is found to be in National as in private affairs, when danger makes a sudden demand and great emergencies produce heavy strains. No one will hesitate in selecting the opening prelude to the rebellion as the statesman's and patriot's opportunity. Mr. Buchanan a Democrat of great experience and acknowledged ability, was in the Presidential chair.

Speaking for his party, speaking for himself, speaking for his administration, Mr. Buchanan's mournful conclusion in the light of Democratic rendering of the Constitution, was that secession by the States was revolutionary and coercion by the general Government was unconstitutional, and consequently unlawful. In other words, Democratic statesmanship had no remedy for political assassination but submission and surrender. Fortunately a new force was found in American affairs. The Republican party entered on its wonderful career of struggle, endeavor, victory and progress. Four years passed, during which the Democratic party, as such, kept up a more or less virulent opposition to the war, and finally, assembling at Chicago in 1864 to nominate a Presidential candidate, it proceeded to declare it to be its solemn conviction that the war was a failure and that the Union arms and policy must eventually be defeated. Again the party met in 1868 in national convention, and declared, not that the Union arms had been defeated, but that, being victorious, the statesmanship that had directed that victory was unable to conserve its results. Therefore reconstruction was a failure. Once more the quadrennial term passed by, and the Democracy again assembled. This time, after having declared—

1st. That the Union could not be preserved, because coercion was unconstitutional and secession was extra-constitutional;

2d. Having found that the Union might be preserved, they declared the effort to do so was a failure, and not worth making; and,

3d. That having succeeded in suppressing rebellion, it was impossible to reconstruct the ex-rebel States in harmony with the restored and preserved Union. They simply pronounced themselves, their party, and their policy an utter and complete failure, by surrendering (or pretending so to do) their party to the leadership of its hitherto most persistent foe, accepting a platform made by others, and marching to the field of thrice-recurring defeats, under a mongrel banner and shouting a strange shibboleth.

Cowardice at the beginning; treasonable sympathies throughout; antagonism to peace at the close of war, and finally an (apparent) unconditional surrender to deserters from antagonistic ranks. Such is the Democratic record.

Of course we knew that the Democracy believes it "only stoops to conquer" but the alliance of those confederates is a fit one. A few words will show that Mr. Greeley is, after all, not so unfit a candidate for the Democracy in this their pitiful plight. In 1860, when President Buchanan wrote his melancholy confession of incapacity, Mr. Greeley supplemented it by proclaiming in the Tribune his willingness to let the cotton or other slave States secede, provided only that they did so peacefully.

Throughout the war he blew hot and cold on the Union policy, and when the Democracy at Chicago in 1864 declared the war for the Union was a failure, thirty days thereafter Mr. Greeley was found at Niagara Falls a volunteer envoy negotiating with a copperhead mountebank and rebel agents an attempt to bring about peace on terms which would have been simply a hideous mockery of principle and a most cowardly surrender of grand results lying close within our grasp.

In 1868, when the Democracy proclaimed reconstruction to be a tyranny and the final restoration of the Union an impossibility, Mr. Greeley was on the verge of doing what he has since accomplished. He was only restrained by the force of immediate circumstances from surrendering to the Democracy. Now, when both the Democracy and Greeley are publicly acknowledging themselves failures, the affecting sacrifice is consummated by fraternal embraces, and they melt together until it is impossible to tell "which is t'other." Under all forms, however, it is the same old serpent. The alliance is complete, fitting, and affecting. Vale! Vale!

Shaking Hands across the Bloody Chasm!

THE GREELEY PARTY ON THE RECORD!

OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF TWO DEMOCRATIC SENATORS AND SIX DEMOCRATIC MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE!

The ultimate purpose of the "new and all-powerful (?) party," made up "out of the ruins of the existing organization," is frankly stated by Senators Frank P. Blair and T. F. Bayard, and their Democratic associates, Hon. S. S. Cox, Hon. James B. Beck, Hon. P. Van Trump, Hon. A. M. Waddell, Hon. J. C. Robinson, and Hon. J. M. Hanks, over their own signatures, in their minority report, as members of the Kuklux Committee, at the close of the last session of Congress. On page five hundred and twenty-seven, (527,) in presenting "the views of the minority," they use the following words, copied verbatim, viz:

"But while the negroes of the South have position and power in the administration of public affairs now, who can say, who can look into the future so clearly as to enable him to say how long this unnatural state of things will last. No one is so prescient as to be able to fix the period of its duration; but that it must end somehow, and at some time not in the distant future, no philosophic thinker will doubt. It is altogether too abnormal, too much opposed to the instinctive feeling, some will say prejudices, of the white race, to endure beyond the peculiar condition of popular opinion, brought about by a war prosecuted in the end for freedom, if not the enfranchisement of the negro. Gradually, in time, and under a change of circumstances, this exceptional state of the popular mind will wear out and pass away, and public opinion will vibrate back to its old condition, as it existed prior to the disturbing influences of the war. This will be brought about by one of two things; either by a rupture of the Government itself, or the springing up of some new and all powerful party out of the ruins of the existing political organizations. When either of these two things shall occur, and God grant it may not be the first, it will be the political death of the negro on this continent. So far as it relates to his future solidity as a race, commingled with the whites within the Union, he will be in a worse condition than he was in a state of slavery; for the inevitable tendency will be to segregate him from the white race, and if not transported to some other country, he will slowly but surely pass away like that of the Indian will be known no more forever."

(Signed.) Frank P. Blair,
T. F. Bayard,
S. S. Cox,
James B. Beck,
P. Van Trump,
A. M. Waddell,
J. C. Robinson,
J. M. Hanks.

There is no ambiguity in this language. They say "the negroes of the South have position and power in the administration of public affairs now, * * but that it must end somehow, and at some time not in the distant future, no philosophical thinker will doubt." Yes, it must end somehow, they say, and that the time is not in the distant future. Hence, in their opinion it must be near at hand. They then state frankly how it will be brought about. We quote again their own words: "This will be brought about by one of two things; either by the rupture of the Government itself, or the springing up of some new and all-powerful party out of the ruins of the existing political organizations." They then say, "When either of these two things shall occur," (here they take breath to utter a prayer, asking "God to grant that it may not be the first," and proceed,) "IT WILL BE THE POLITICAL DEATH OF THE NEGRO ON THIS CONTINENT!" What will be his political death? Clearly "the springing up and success of this new and all-powerful party," with Horace Greeley at its head. When this shall occur they declare that "he (the negro) will be in a worse condition than he was in a state of slavery." Ominous words, coming as they do from the supporters of this "new party organization." But they go on and declare that if he is not driven from the country or transported beyond the seas, "he will slowly but surely pass away like the aborigines, and his place among us, like that of the Indian, will be known no more forever!" This is an official statement of what the instigators and supporters of the Greeley movement expect should they succeed in electing him to the Presidency and again coming into power. Being forewarned, let the colored people be forearmed.

How to go West.—This is an enquiry which every one should have truthfully answered before he starts on his journey, and a little care taken in examination of Routes will in many cases save much trouble, time and money.

The "C., B. & Q R. R.," running from Chicago, through Galesburg to Burlington, and the "I., B. & W. Under a popular verdict like this, how small, how contemptible the anti-Cameron "Ring" must feel?—Harrisburg Telegraph.

87 BY ONE OF THE LEADING PHYSICIANS of Philadelphia city.—A careful examination of mortuary statistics establishes the fact that one adult person out of every six dies of consumption, and so alarmingly is this disease gaining the ascendancy over all other ills to which flesh is heir, that its approach to one's immediate circle is regarded with perfect horror. If you will carefully examine the records of Materia Medica you will invariably discover that the general want of success in treating diseases has not been a deficiency of pathological knowledge of the functions affected, but of a suitable compound that would act upon the disease and all the sympathetic affections.

This want has at last been met in the Bitter Wine of Iron, prepared by the celebrated Dr. E. F. Kunkle, No 259 North Ninth street, Philadelphia. This excellent compound can be taken by persons with the most delicate stomach without any debilitating effect always giving strength and largely increasing the nervous energy of the patient. In all cases of pulmonary complaints it is admirably adapted to relieve the severity of the symptoms in the advanced stages of the disease, or to arrest it in its incipiency. If you want something that will give you strength, a good appetite, build up your constitution, and in place of moroseness and a lack of energy, give you a brisk and vigorous feeling, try Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron. It has already received the meed of praise from thousands who have tested its virtues, and for many years maintained its reputation with unfaded popularity.

Price $1 per bottle. E. F. KUNKEL, Sole Proprietor, No. 259 North Ninth street, below Vine, Philadelphia.
